“ This is for Joyce McCusker--So sorry to read of your mom's passing. Dad's been gone for almost 3 years but I remember it like yesterday. I will always remember your mother as a jovial woman with a sharp wit. She used to cut my daughter's hair when a child and had immeasurable patience. I notice you request donations for cancer and Alzheimer's. My mom, too, had breast cancer and now has Alzheimers. She thinks I am her mother. What a cruel disease. Please remember your mom for the woman she was during all the early years. I just thought it was such a coincidence--the parallels in their lives. God Bless--Lynn
