“ Merry Christmas in Heaven mom. I love and miss you. The year 2020 is almost over. It was a tough year. I imagine it was tough in one way or another for most people. A year of great loss for many. The next year will hopefully be better and maybe people can get back to some sort of a normal life style. I wish you were still here with us but that would be selfish of me as you were in such pain. I now understand what you meant the last time we talked and you told me that "you were tired". I know now that you were ready to be released from your pain. I wish I could of been there for you mom. It pains my heart. I love you very much. R.I.P. mom. Goodnight.

“ I love and miss you mom. Even though we have been separated by distance you were always close in my heart. I know that you are now in peace and your pain is no more. It had been tough since you have passed. I still struggle at times but I have great support that I can lean on if and when needed. Please watch over Earl as I worry about him. He is strong but I know he misses you. I do not know what else to say. I just was not ready to say good-bye. I love you very much. I miss you greatly. R.I.P. Till the day I see you again.

“ Jane was the best mother-in-law! Even though we were far apart, her love was evident each time we spoke. She will forever be in my heart. Sending love and prayers to Earl, Glenn, Chris and of course my husband Tim. I always promised her that I would take care of her son, now I know she is watching over him too ❤️
