“ My big sister what can I say we went through childhood just months apart in age but you were always there when times were tuff keeping a watchful eye out for your lil brother as you would say we shared the same values of life even though we didn't see each other as much as we should have because of that thing called life that took us different paths over the years and with your passing I learned one last thing from you how to face life head on even in the face of death you did everything with class and dignity I will always remember you

“ *Candy, mom, mama C
What to say.... let me start with thank you.... we shared many ups and downs we were both stubborn and bull headed... I love you, I have and will always hold you in a place in my heart with great gratitude with great respect... I thank you for making me me the strong woman and mother of 3 I am today. Though you weren't my biological mother that didn't matter... you taught me things I will pass on to my children, the way to respect your self the way to fight for yourself the way to break it all down and build it up again.. you taught me to never face defeat because it is not an option.... you taught me that all the it may not be popular or even warranted the truth above all is necessary... I won't sugar coat this because you wouldn't.... I want you to know that your love your values and your legacy will live on in me and mine... at a time when I was a twisted teen going the wrong way you built me up into a beautiful blonde bombshell with an acedmic brain with the power of knowledge.... I cherish that I am grateful for that...mama C I love you may your soul rest easy.... I can hear you laughing saying us egg head singers are all the same.. I wish you would have let me come see you one more time...forever and always your daughter Sasha*

“ There is definitely no other like this women. She could be your mother, your sister or your friend all wrapped into one package. A lifetime of memories we will place on our special shelves that will spill over into our thoughts as we move through our daily lives. Marsha has touched so many people in so many ways. She had a youthful zest for life and it was seen in everything that she did. I miss and love her deeply. Shari

“ I will miss solving all the worlds problems at her kitchen table and eating her delicious meals. Marsha had strong beliefs and wasn't afraid to share them, she was always open to a good debate. Marsha presented herself as a tough cookie(which she was) but she was the most caring and giving person that I know. I love and miss her deeply. Brian
