“ Shawn was a very sweet friend when we were in elementary school. He was an incredibly gifted artist and the art teachers were always trying to give him attention and encourage him. He also had an artist's temperament that seemed to make his life more complicated.

Once, he showed up at my door with 3 baby ducks rolled in his shirt that he stole from a pond and gave to me as a gift. I actually kept them as pets for several years.

I've thought about Shawn often over the years and have tried to find him on the internet a few times. Sad to hear of his death. I'm wondering where his life took him and what caused his death at such a young age.
